My tutor...

What aspects of this tutor's approach to teaching best helped your learning?

- Always came up with fairly intuitive ways of explaining things.
- Giving examples about the meaning of the question was very helpful because sometimes the question itself was very confusing, eg. when James was giving examples about monotonicity that was unrelated to the question such as saying (3,2) is strictly preferred to (2,2) using his phone example was extremely helpful. also giving like a mini tuto on the concepts before attempting the question helped alot too
- He explained the concepts clearly and sometimes even better than the lecturer
- He was aware of the time constraint and tried hard to focus on the most important questions in each tutorial first.
- I loved the way you intuitively explained difficult economic concepts
- I've had James for three years in a row now (ECON1050, 2050 and now 3010) and he seems to get better with every year. Funny, keeps things interesting and always does a great job preparing and delivering the tutorials. Keep it up James!
- James continues to be one of the best tutors for the more advanced / abstract subjects as he put the content into more relatable terms. He has definitely help me push to a new level in this subject.
- James was great at explaining the abstract concepts and gave very helpful notes.
- Jimmy is great, he breaks the concepts down so that they are easy to understand. Overall great tutor.
- This guy is the best. I'd been going to the other female tutor the entire semester and then switched over a couple of weeks ago, everything is explained really clearly and the content from the lecture actually starts to make sense.
- Very helpful, engaging and informative. Thank you for a great semester and for all the help!

What would you have liked this tutor to have done differently?

- He could have taken all of the other tutors sessions, because he's that good.
- I think your tutorials could be improved by engaging more with the students. Don't be afraid to slow down and ask us what we think!
- Manage time better so all exercises are solved in the class.
- Nothing the class was great each week.
- Nothing, he is smashing it.
- Often made mistakes
- The tutes tend to go overtime, however I'm not sure if this is James' fault or the tutes simply being too short for the subject.
- great tutor, the only suggestion I have is a bit better time management, but I know it's hard since the tutes have so much content
- ideas are not communicated well and sometimes hard to understand. This goes for the course in general too.
